

WORDS OF ART

A Game That Illuminates Your Mind by Catherine Gund

April 13, 2021 | 96 pages | 150 cards | For ages 8+ | 4 to 10 players | Clarkson Potter

ART IS A RIGHT, NOT A PRIVILEGE.

Now everyone can explore the fabled, never-before-published art collection of Agnes Gund.

WHY THIS GAME?

- Created by Catherine Gund, the daughter of famed art collector and philanthropist Agnes Gund
- Features 150 works from Agnes Gund's unpublished, private art collection
- An "Apples to Apples" matching game that will teach players about art, imagination, and each other
- Over half of the featured works are made by women artists, and over a third are created by artists of color

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Catherine Gund is an Emmy-nominated writer, producer, director, and activist. She's the founder and director of Aubin Pictures. Her films have been featured on PBS, Netflix, Amazon Prime, the Discovery Channel, and Sundance Channel, as well as in festivals, theatres, museums, and schools. She's the daughter of famed art collector and philanthropist Agnes Gund.

ALSO BY THE AUTHOR

Aggie: An Incredible Story of Art and Justice (2020)

- A documentary that explores the nexus of art, race, and justice through the life story of art collector Agnes Gund, Catherine Gund's mother
- Promotes art accessibility and education, women's leadership, criminal justice reform, and radical philanthropy

"Gund's contributions to the art world, to schools and to fighting mass incarceration will last."

—The New York Times

"The film tells the story of a woman who changed the world of art—and then used art to change the world."

—Essence

"It allows us to share in the philosophy behind her work in a way that makes philanthropic activism approachable."

—Forbes

An official selection for:

